About TIS

TIS is the leading organisation promoting and inspiring innovative tenant participation, engagement, and scrutiny practices in Scotland.

We deliver independent advice, training, and support to tenants, communities, and housing organisations to work together to influence national housing policy and practice.

We believe that by working together, we can plan more effectively to deliver high quality and affordable housing, and wider services to meet the needs of our diverse and flourishing communities. Our expert team finds creative approaches to encourage communities and housing organisations to work together to get things done.

Our aim is simple, we want to change housing in Scotland for the better.

A message from our Chairperson

Robert Alston
TIS Chairperson

I am delighted that you have an interest in applying for the role of CEO with TIS.

Founded in 1989, TIS is a respected, national membership organisation who lead in the development of innovative tenant participation, community development, and engagement practices throughout Scotland.

TIS has a rare opportunity for an inspiring leader, who believes in social housing, the benefits of effective tenant involvement in decision making, and community development with a passion for social justice, to join our team and steer our next chapter.

In one of the most severe economic upheavals in a generation, I can't stress enough how important the work of TIS is, in supporting tenants and housing organisations to come together as a collective to drive forward positive outcomes for our communities and homes, which are so intrinsic to every aspect of our lives.

Our values are at the core of everything we do, and we harness a culture that believes that everyone deserves equal economic, political, and social rights and opportunities.

Our team is made up of 9 committed individuals who are passionate about reinforcing the legal right to consult tenants and provide meaningful opportunities to influence housing policy and practice and promote better housing for the tenants of today and tomorrow.

As a national membership organisation, we are proud to represent over 255,000 homes across Scotland, in 28 of 32 local authority areas.

TIS is now at a pivotal moment where we are looking for a CEO to build upon our strong foundations, and be responsible for the strategic, financial, and operational leadership of our organisation.

The CEO reports directly to the TIS Board of Directors, who have a diverse range of skills, knowledge, and experience to support the long term success of the organisation and is made up of tenant and housing organisation representatives from the TIS membership community, alongside co-opted individuals.

TIS really is a fantastic organisation with an excellent reputation throughout the sector. If you are ready to embrace this exciting challenge and share our values and vision for an active, inclusive, and just Scotland, where communities are strong, equitable, and sustainable – we would encourage you to apply.

Visit our website for more information about the work that we do.

About the role

TIS - a national charity leading tenant participation, community development, and engagement practices, is seeking a dynamic and values-driven individual to step into the role of CEO.

This is a rare opportunity for an inspiring leader, with a passion for social justice to champion tenant participation and engagement and ensure it remains at the forefront of the national housing agenda.

As a membership organisation, TIS is proud to represent over 255,000 homes across Scotland through its tenant and housing organisation membership community. Members share the same values of finding creative solutions to encourage tenants and housing organisations to work together and effect positive change.

With a strong foundation and fantastic reputation, TIS is now looking for a CEO to lead the next chapter of growth and innovation. The CEO will be responsible for the strategic, financial, and operational leadership of TIS along with delivering projects to our customers; they will be responsible for reporting directly to the Board of Directors.

Key responsibilities include:

Consultancy

To lead on and deliver projects and contracts to meet the financial and strategic objectives of TIS.

Training, research, and publications

To lead on the delivery of bespoke training and conference events for tenants, staff, and board members across the sector.

Lead on the delivery of research and good practice materials to support good practice across the sector.

Leadership and governance

Driving the strategic direction of TIS while ensuring the organisation's activities align its finance requirements and with its core values of integrity, excellence, partnership, innovation, independence, and empowerment.

Financial management

Developing and overseeing budgets, tenders, and funding streams to ensure the organisation's long-term viability.

Policy influence

Representing TIS at a local and national level, working closely with government bodies, housing regulators, and key stakeholders to influence housing policy and legislation.

Team development

Leading a dedicated team of professionals and associates, fostering a culture of empowerment, and delivering continuous service improvement.

Membership growth

Enhancing member services and driving the organisation's marketing, digital and engagement strategies.

About the role

If you are ready to embrace this challenge and are excited by the opportunity to lead and inspire a progressive organisation with a strong social purpose, we would love to hear from you.

You will work alongside a passionate and skilled team, supported by a dedicated Board, to shape Scotland's housing landscape for the better.

We are looking for an accomplished professional with:

Experience

At least five years in a senior management role within housing, tenant participation, or community development, with a proven track record in strategic and operational leadership.

Skills

Exceptional communication, negotiation, and leadership skills, coupled with a deep understanding of the social housing sector, financial management, and governance best practices.

Values

A commitment to tenant empowerment, social justice, and innovation, underpinned by a collaborative and inclusive approach.

How we are managed

The CEO will report directly to the TIS Board of Directors.

Board Directors are ambassadors for the organisation. They are responsible for providing leadership, monitoring performance, agreeing on the strategic direction of the organisation, and ensuring its long-term success.

What we do

Our expert team supports communities and housing organisations to work together to develop effective solutions and services.

Engage

We deliver independent advice, training, and support to tenants, communities, and housing organisations to work together more effectively.

We pioneer and inspire innovative tenant participation, community engagement, and scrutiny practice throughout Scotland.

Influence

We work with the Scottish Government, Scottish Housing Regulator (SHR), Scotland's Housing Network and key decision makers to influence national housing policy, legislation, and practice.

We work to ensure our members views are heard to shape and influence housing and community learning, and policy development.

Change

We provide practical training and support to develop and implement strategies to ensure tenants and communities are involved, and their voices are heard.

We believe that by working together, we can plan more effectively to deliver high quality and affordable housing, and wider services that meet the needs of our diverse and flourishing communities.

Our people

Our expert team is committed and trained to the highest level to provide the best possible advice, support, and training services to tenants, communities, and housing organisations across the Scottish social rented housing sector.

At present we have a team of 9, along with a group of Associates.

Our values

The TIS core values support our vision, shape our culture, and reflect what we believe in as an organisation.

They are the essence of our identity and provide the framework to how we engage with our staff team, tenants, communities and housing organisations alike.

Integrity

We believe that trust is fundamental. We are honest, open, and respectful.

Excellence

We uphold the highest standards across all areas of work to provide excellent services and outcomes that provide value for money.

Partnership

We support communities and housing organisations to work together to nurture, grow, and develop effective solutions and services.

Innovative

We find creative approaches to encourage communities and housing organisations to work together to get things done.

Independent

We support our key partners, members, and customers to set your own agenda.

Empowering

We are committed to develop individual and organisation's individual's skills, confidence, and knowledge.

Offices and development support projects

The TIS head office is based in the city centre of Glasgow. We currently manage development support projects in East Lothian and South Lanarkshire. These projects are a partnership between the Council, local tenants, and TIS.
